

MADRID HIT BY FIERCEST BOMB RAID OF SIEGE

Thirty Fascist Planes Unleash Death From Skies

Believe "Final Battle" Must Soon End Deadlock

Madrid, Dec. 4.—(P)—Bomb-scarred Madrid reverberated under the fiercest aerial onslaught of the siege today as 30 Fascist warplanes, droning high over the city, unleashed death from the skies.

One explosive bomb wrecked the apartment of Premier Francisco Largo Caballero at 39 Viriato street. Largo Caballero is in Valencia with other government ministers.

The 11 hrs appeared without warning over the Rosales sector and dropped scores of high-explosives. Anti-aircraft guns and machine-guns set up in the streets sent volley after volley at the invaders.

Casualties could not be immediately ascertained.

Three previous air raids had given Madrid's citizens a sleepless night, but encouragement arose from reports that Socialist troops had come through the bitter fighting of the last 48 hours with their lines intact.

Insurgent attempts to steam-roller their way into the capital by way of Puzuelo de Alarcón northwest of Madrid, were temporarily balked, government sources said.

The feeling was abroad in the capital tonight that the "final battle" must soon break in full fury to end the siege—one way or another.

A war office report said 1,200 bombs and shells had taken a heavy toll of life and property damage in a combined aerial and artillery bombardment on Fascist lines at Puzuelo de Alarcón, the Casa del Campo and in University City.

On the western edge of the city, between the Puente de la Florida and Frenchman's bridge, government dynamite squads blew up sewer sections on the city side of the Manzanares river.

The deliberate destruction was carried out to thwart a reported insurgent plan to make a surprise attack thru the underground system.

Lab Operators Of Mail School

Chicago, Dec. 4.—(P)—Postal inspectors in various parts of the nation had six men under arrest tonight, Inspector Walter Johnson disclosed, on charges of mail fraud in connection with the operation of the O. F. Schoeck Correspondence School at Alton, Ill.

The men were among 30 named, Johnson said, in suppressed indictments returned recently by a federal grand jury at Springfield, Ill.

Inspector S. J. Hettrick arrested A. C. Andrew and Earl Simmons at Cleveland today, where he said he sought two others.

Others had Johnson said, were Wyman C. Beebe of Omaha, Neb.; J. L. Joseph of Livingston, Mont.; Don Strader of Kansas City, Mo.; and J. G. Burke of Chardon, O.

All were charged with being salesmen or salesmen for the school, Johnson said.

Secretary Helps Foreign Consuls, Also Dan Cupid

Washington, Dec. 4.—(P)—Dan Cupid was given a helping hand today by the nation's bachelor acting Secretary of State, R. Walton Moore.

With the traditional gallantry of his native Virginia, the elderly statesman made it possible for two young vice-consuls in distant posts to keep their plighted troth to the ladies of their choice.

Their romances threatened by President Roosevelt's recent order that no foreign service officer henceforth may marry a person of alien birth without the secretary of state's permission, Vice Consuls Elvin Seibert, of Manchester, England had cabled for official consent.

Both explained their engagements were announced prior to the order, and sent their resignations along with their requests.

Acting Secretary Moore in approving the forthcoming marriages held that an engagement to marry is a legal as well as a sentimental contract.

SARGA GASHES HEAD OF THIRD DUEL OPPONENT

Police Intervene Before End Of Saber Clash

Budapest, Dec. 4.—(P)—Dr. Franz Sarga, Hungary's "me against nine" duelist, tonight crossed sabers with his third opponent and gashed his adversary's head before police ended the encounter.

Elemer Losonczy, 29, tall and supple government employee, had a three and one-half inch cut in his scalp when the police broke down the door of the fencing school, where Sarga and Losonczy clashed, and pinned Sarga's naked arm.

Sarga, who previously had shot it out in two of his scheduled nine duels he planned in his campaign in defense of "the honor of my wife and our unborn baby," said he was unconcerned.

His account with Losonczy, though a round had been fought, remained to be settled he said.

Having injured two of the three opponents he has met and kept his own skin unscathed, the vengeful Sarga stated his whole program of duels would be carried out.

Tonight's fight took place on the second floor of the Santelli Fencing school.

Fourteen detectives were around the building but Hungarian law provides that the authorities may not interfere only after a duel actually is in progress. Police may not take measures to prevent a fight.

One Strike Ends In Wide Deadlock

By The Associated Press
One of the nation's major strikes ended yesterday (Friday) but deadlocks persisted in two others.

Settlement of a strike of 1,800 workers at the Midland Steel Products company in Detroit released a brake on automobile production in that motor capital.

Terms of the peace pact included upward wage adjustments a 45 hour week and abolition of the piece work system.

The week-long suspension of activities had resulted in the temporary closing of four divisions of the Chrysler corporation and the Lincoln Zephyr division of the Ford Motor Company because of a shortage of steel body frames.

One authoritative source gauged the curtailment at approximately 5,000 units in the daily assembly volume at the motor plants while President Homer Martin of the United Automobile Workers of America estimated 72,000 persons were made idle during the stalemate.

G. W. McCabe head of the Federation of Flat Glass Workers, offered to order 1,300 members participating in a "sit-down" demonstration at the Libbey-Owens-Ford Glass Company in Ottawa, Ill., to resume work if officials of the firm would assure him the Ottawans would not be forced to turn out orders for the Chrysler Motor Company.

LAST CALL TO REGISTER

Washington, Dec. 4.—(P)—A rush by workers to register under the social security act was reported from one end of the country to the other today as officials expressed confidence that the registrations would be practically complete.

Tomorrow is the deadline set for 36,000,000 workers to apply for old age pension account numbers rendered both cash and jewelry, Peter Kouridas, her attorney said today.

It is understood the cash settlement was $5,000 and that the value of the jewelry amounts to several thousand dollars more.

INSULT SETTLER

New York, Dec. 4.—(P)—The settlement Samuel Insull made with Mne. Helene Covinozou for services she included during his exile in Greece was $5,000 and that the value of the jewelry amounts to several thousand dollars more.

BLACK LEGION'S TAUNTS LEAD TO MURDER, SUICIDE

Believe Fire Captain Goaded To Commit Crime

Bodies Found In Kitchen Of Pontiac Fire Station

Pontiac, Mich., Dec. 4.—(P)—Taunts of Black Legion membership, acting Chief of Police Frank Nelson said tonight, led Fire Captain William H. Bradburn to kill a fellow fireman and commit suicide today.

The bodies of Bradburn, named by a grand jury recently as a member of the society of hooded night-riders, and of Donald H. Slusher, were found in the kitchen of the fire station Bradburn commanded.

On the captain's desk was a note to Fire Chief Frank W. Kuhn, which said: "he talked too much. He should have been changed."

Nelson said he was told Slusher, whose name was not linked with the Black Legion by the grand jury which listed nineteen Pontiac police and firemen as members, had directed many jibes at the fire captain. Nelson expressed belief Bradburn brooded over the taunts and the possibility of dismissal.

Chief Charles McMillan was removed by the police and fire trial board after he was named by the grand jury as a Black Legion member. City Manager William P. Edmonson planned charges against all those so designated.

Chief Kuhn said Captain Bradburn told him that he attended only one Black Legion meeting and had refused to join when he learned the nature of the organization.

The shooting here occurred today soon after five Black Legion "thrill murder" defendants convicted of killing a black man and on "target practice," received life sentences in recorder's court at Detroit.

Judge Donald Van Zile pronounced the mandatory sentences on Harvey Davis, Ervin D. Lee and John Bannerman, all already facing life terms for the Black Legion "execution" of Charles Pooler, and on Charles Rouse and James Roy Lorraine. All were convicted of first degree murder.

Mrs. Belle Gotschall Passes Away Friday At Daughter's Home

Voluntary Registration Opposed by Commerce Department

Washington, Dec. 4.—(P)—President Roosevelt's tentative suggestion for registration of the unemployed, rather than a census count of the jobless—was said in informed quarters today to have run up against unanimous opposition in the central statistical board.

Sources close to the board, which is composed of experts, said that while it had not voted any final recommendations, members made it "quite clear" at their last meeting that any system of voluntary registration of jobless would be opposed.

Shortly before leaving for South America, the president indicated he favored the self-registration plan rather than an expensive census, such as the commerce department had proposed.

The central statistical board, composed of representatives from the federal reserve board, the treasury, and other departments, is the government's chief advisory body on information-gathering activities.

A census of the jobless was advanced by the commerce department as the only means of getting an accurate picture of the unemployment problem. It outlined plans for a nation-wide, door-to-door canvass.

Explaining the statistical board's views, authoritative sources said that, in discussing "tentative ideas," its members were agreed that self-registration would not give an accurate count.

Some employed might register, it was said, hopeful of bettering their positions. Besides, persons dissatisfied with their jobs, housewives and minors seeking work might classify themselves as unemployed.

In addition, it was thought, many unemployed would not register.

DISCLOSE 'BACK LOG' To Keep WPA Going

Washington, Dec. 4.—(P)—The existence of a "back log" of unallocated work relief funds, which might be used to carry WPA activities well into February if the new Congress is slow in voting additional money, was disclosed today by treasury officials.

Their revelation came as WPA officials went ahead with plans to curtail payrolls and make the fast vanishing $272,000,000 now on hand last as long as possible. They have estimated this would be exhausted by January 20, if Congress forced liquidation of the organization by that date.

In addition to the sum at present available to WPA, the treasury officials said, $87,000,000 of the current works progress appropriation still is unallocated to any agency.

Today's developments closely followed an unsuccessful effort by the United States Conference of Mayors to persuade officials here not to curtail work relief at this time.

The mayors since have appealed by cable to President Roosevelt, returning home from the All-American Peace conference in South America.

CUMMINGS' PORTRAIT

Washington, Dec. 4.—(P)—Attorney General Cummings is having his portrait painted.

Leaving his office unobtrusively last Wednesday, Cummings went to New York to sit for Henry Rittenberg, nationally known artist.

Edward's Decision In Doubt; Simpson Leaves For France

By The Associated Press.

London, Dec. 5.—(Saturday)—Surging crowds cheered King Edward's name through the ancient streets of London early today while their monarch struggled against his prime minister's public ultimatum to choose between Britain's throne and Wallis Warfield Simpson.

Whether or not the youthful and once-gay sovereign had reached a decision, or whether he still was determined to keep both his scepter and his right to marry whom he wished, no one save himself knew.

Alone except for servants in secluded Port Belvedere, the sorely-beset King through the night sought an answer that would satisfy both the dictates of his heart and of his duty as ruler of the far-flung British Empire.

He had not yet irrevocably made up his mind on any course, authoritative sources said, after his close friends urged him to hide his time and tell his government he had no intention of marrying anybody at the present crucial time.

Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, who yesterday in unmistakable language delivered the challenge for those forces opposing a marriage between the King and the American-born divorcee, was expected to give the anxious British public some further word today.

But there were no definite assurances of what means he would employ, or even if he would say anything further on the subject.

Some informed persons thought he might make known the results of his last night's session with Edward in a statement or in a cabinet communiqué possibly around noon, (6 a. m. Central Standard Time).

Most quarters, however, expected no additional definite information would be disclosed by Baldwin until Monday when Commons is scheduled to reconvene. The prime minister, however, they said, could in such an emergency session exist to meet the parliamentarians to meet Saturday to hear his words.

While Edward sought an answer for the dilemma, the woman whose friendship caused the Empire crisis spent the night in southern France en route to a secret hideaway.

Mrs. Simpson, who friends said consented to leave England only at Edward's assurance he would not abdicate the throne of his forefathers, registered under the name Harrison in Blois early today.

Hotel clerks said she and her party, including a secretary and a body guard, would leave at dawn for the Riviera villa of her and the King's friends, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rogers, of New York, many believed.

Adding to the weight of Empire on the shoulders of the slim monarch last night was the pressure brought to bear representatives of his realm.

It was learned that Baldwin, while closeted with Edward in Belvedere for their third session in as many days, told him he must remember that under the statute of Westminster, he was King of each dominion as well as King and Emperor of the British Empire.

The source for this disclosure said further that Baldwin's statement in Commons "reduced the issue to a clear cut one" with next move up to Edward himself.

The fact that Baldwin called a cabinet session for Saturday and that he summoned Viscount Craigavon, Premier of Northern Ireland from Belfast to London, indicated the King had not determined on what he must do.

But for the crowds jostling through London's streets all night there was only one answer:

"God save the King! God save the new Queen!"

Clay Roach of the Franklin community was calling on the local business men yesterday.

BUENOS AIRES CONFERENCE IN FIRST SESSION

Committees Go To Work On Peace Problems

Cordell Hull Takes No Committee Post In Parley

Buenos Aires, Dec. 4.—(P)—Committees of the Inter-American Peace conference went to work tonight after the first full business session heard President Roosevelt hailed as an "Apostle of Peace."

Secretary of State Cordell Hull, head of the United States delegation, took no committee post himself in naming members of his group to various assignments, indicating he will maintain a general supervisory position and hold consultations when necessary.

Before it broke into committees the conference received a peace petition signed by more than 1,000,000 women which was brought to Buenos Aires by ten American women who flew here.

Argentine Foreign Minister Saavedra Lamas, chosen permanent chairman of the conference, said of President Roosevelt in welcoming the delegates:

"The initiator of this conference and an Apostle of Peace, we owe to his prestige and his sponsorship the moral atmosphere which he has left us and which constitutes an augury of the success of our deliberations."

The president's visit, he said, "was not only opportune but providential." Saavedra Lamas asserted American countries must not consider isolating themselves from Europe.

"We cannot consider the consolidation of peace while limiting its horizons," he declared.

"We cannot give way to suppositions of continental isolation, which would be asserting that we do not live on the same planet with the Old World."

Mrs. Burton T. Mueser of Salt Lake City, a United States representative at the parley, presided over the special session which received the peace petition from the people's mandate committee to end war.

John Hamilton Will Resign As GOP Chairman

Calls Meeting of National Committee for December 17

Washington, Dec. 4.—(P)—Calling the Republican National Committee to meet in Chicago December 17 John Hamilton announced tonight he would tender his resignation as chairman at that time.

"I feel it impossible for me to continue in an official capacity without an expression of confidence," he notified the members.

Whether the resignation would be accepted became an immediate topic of speculation at the capital. Some sentiment for a change in the chairmanship has been evident in Republican circles; but friends of Hamilton were hopeful he would be asked to stay on.

The said he first mentioned the subject in Chicago two days after the Roosevelt landslide. The decision crystallized about two weeks ago, it was said, before Representative Fish (R-N.Y.) demanded that Hamilton go as a first move for "liberalization" of the party.

Whether he had discussed the question with Gov. Alf M. Landon was not known. Sources in touch with Hamilton said, however, that he definitely had not spoken of the matter with any committee member and would not do so until the meeting.

If the resignation is accepted, the choice of a chairman will devolve on the committee. The successor need not be a member of the committee.

Hamilton said he would view the committee's decision impersonally and asked the members to take whatever action they believed for the best party interests.

DISMISS PETITION

Springfield, Ill., Dec. 4.—(P)—U. S. District Judge J. Earl Major dismissed today a petition for a contempt of court citation against Lloyd H. Melton, Harrisburg, attorney and states attorney elect of Saline county.

The petition, filed by Samuel E. Whitaker, attorney for the department of justice, charged Melton with "intimidating" two witnesses under subpoena to testify before a federal grand jury investigating Illinois mine and railroad bombings.

In the petition Whitaker charged Melton with telling John Wiggins of Harrisburg, "you and your son, Willie, had better keep your mouths shut if you don't want 10 to 14 years in Leavenworth penitentiary."

Willie Wiggins the son, has been indicted for perjury by the grand jury.

THREATEN GINGER ROGERS

Hollywood, Dec. 4.—(P)—Dancing Ginger Rogers was guarded by federal agents today as her mother told of letters demanding $5,000 or the pretty actress' life.

Mrs. Lela Rogers said federal men made arrangements to contact the supposed letter writer at a beach safe tonight in the hope of making arrests. Officers of the Bureau of Investigation refused comment.

Alf Landon Eats By Open Campfire On Florida Trip

Monticello, Fla., Dec. 4.—(P)—Campfire ashes blew into his breakfast plate but Governor Alf M. Landon called for more eggs and hot cakes at his close-to-nature fishing camp on the Wacissa river today.

"I'm thoroughly enjoying this," said the Kansan. "I got used to ashes in the oil fields."

Landon dressed in blue overalls, a drab leather jacket, blue neckerchief and slouch hat. He wore his boots.

The governor will go fishing into the Gulf of Mexico Monday. Later he probably will go to Louisiana "where they tell me duck and geese are so thick you could kill them with a stick." He will return to Topeka Dec. 11.

'GIFT OF GOD' CASE UP BEFORE MISSOURI COURT

Government Charges Mail Fraud In New Trial

St. Louis, Dec. 4.—(P)—Dr. Ben Reitman, Chicago, testified in the "Gift of God" baby case today Mrs. Grace Thomasson sought his assistance in obtaining an infant so she could "get the legacy."

Reitman explained this was her "first born" when she visited him in Chicago Dec. 5, 1935. He said she later told him she wanted a baby because "there was a lot of money in it—$50,000."

Mrs. Thomasson is the chief government witness in a mail fraud trial in which Mrs. Nellie Tipton Muench, her husband, Dr. Ludwig O. Muench, Attorney Wilfred Jones and Mrs. Helen Berroyer are charged with trying to obtain money from Dr. Marsh Pittman, wealthy physician here, on the allegation he was the father of a child Mrs. Muench claimed to have borne.

The St. Louis court of appeals last December ruled Mrs. Muench was not the mother of the son whose birth she announced as a "Gift of God" and restored the infant to Miss Anna Ware.

Reitman, who said he was physician at the Cook County (Chicago) jail, director of the hobo college and "a second class expert on racketeers," said he told Mrs. Thomasson, after she had explained "the legacy."

"Sister, if the thing's legit" and the child will go in a good home you'll get one. But I thought the thing was phony, it didn't sound legitimate and no effort was made on my part to get the child."

The government of China wants to promote the education of its people and missionaries, Miss Addams pointed out.

There Should be Action

Jacksonville citizens are waiting patiently for some indication from railway officials that the city's demand for better passenger train service is receiving attention. Many Jacksonville business men and civic leaders have declared fast passenger service between here and St. Louis and Chicago would be used. Many have said they would themselves make use of it and have objected strenuously to the present inconvenient means of getting railway accommodations here.

The treatment the railroads have given this city in curtailing its passenger accommodations has brought upon the community unmerited criticism and has created a bad impression on those who have tried to get in and out of Jacksonville via rail. Citizens feel that Jacksonville has done nothing to deserve such treatment.

Railway passenger business is picking up everywhere. Few cities of 20,000 population are today served as villages on "jerkwater" lines were served fifty years ago. Yet this is the sort of service Jacksonville gets, the excuse being that better service through here does not pay.

In the depths of the depression, that may have been true; but it need be so no longer. The highways have become too crowded for safe driving over long distances, and travelers find that it is even less expensive to use trains. The roads have better trains and improved service, which local citizens would be glad to use, but which they dislike driving 35 miles to get.

Citizens are demanding action from the railroads. They want a direct fast train connection with the larger cities. They want trains that will provide comfort and convenience. The press has given voice to these demands and will continue the campaign for a train service worthy of this section. This campaign has the hearty approval of Jacksonville business men.

What, No Constitution

The great hue and cry over a British "constitutional issue" in the King-Simpson case appears to be much ado about nothing, for the fact is, the British have no constitution. All they have is a few hundred volumes of statutes, court precedents and decrees, together with several well-established customs, traditions and common or unwritten law. That would seem a rather formidable legal array, but without a constitution, it is not so heavy.

There is no British supreme court, a fact which should delight the heart of anybody seeking to change the form of government in the empire. Just how the British have managed to get along without a constitution or a supreme court for several hundred years is a mystery, but it has been done, and that with very little fuss and feathers.

The present royal imbroglio is unfortunate, but not without its precedents. King Henry VIII had his love affairs, and had to slice off a few feminine heads before he finally got a wife who could outlive him. Queen Elizabeth was not without her admirers, among them a certain gentleman who must have been the first adviser of speed. Sir Walter Raleigh is said to have laid his coat on the ground in front of the Queen. He then bowed and said, "Step on it, Your Majesty."

All this took place in a country where there was no constitution. Just what will happen next nobody knows. But for the past week the world has talked of little else than King Edward and his love affair. Without a constitution to guide him the King may go pretty much as he pleases. Even the British cabinet is without statutory foundation. It had its origin in the fact that the first King George couldn't speak English and got tired of trying to run the country without being understood.

King Edward doubtless feels that he is also misunderstood, but to remedy this situation he may try to run the country without a cabinet. If England can get along as well without a cabinet as she has without a constitution, Edward should worry.

Illinois Takes Inventory

During the fall political campaign in Illinois, candidates for state offices differed sharply in settlements concerning the finances of the state. The "ins" claimed that they had balanced the budget without undue tax increases; the "outs" attempted to show rising taxes and unsatisfactory financial conditions. In this instance, as often occurs, the conclusions drawn from the figures depended on how they were handled.

Now, with political partisanship of the campaign in the background, some statements just made public may be considered without partisan interpretation.

State Treasurer John Stelle has announced that during the two year period ending July 1, 1936, the receipts of the state treasury were $338,334,181.63, and that the disbursements totaled $354,135,950.67. This indicates that receipts for the two year period were $4,398,221.96 more than the expenditures.

In the same two year period, the treasurer announced, the bonded indebtedness of the state was reduced $14,398,221.96, and the total bond debt stood at $214,177,624.14 on July 1 of this year. The state collected $80,905,685 from the sales tax for the general fund, over and above the sum earmarked for relief, the sum set aside for relief being $35,510,172.55. The sum of $64,544,393.46 was taken in from taxes on motor fuel and of this amount $12,796,456 was disbursed to cities in the state, and $12,526,603 to counties.

Revenues from liquor furnished $17,746,673 for the state treasury and motor vehicle taxes brought in $37,217,336 in the two year period. The cash balance of $59,072,773 which was in the state treasury as of July 1 was said by the treasurer to be all appropriated for specific purposes. This supports Governor Horner's contention during the many battles on relief earlier in the year, when a faction in the legislature argued for using the "surplus" in the treasury for relief instead of providing further relief taxes. Treasurer Stelle, who within a few weeks will become lieutenant governor, now asserts that in July there was no unappropriated "surplus."

The Name Lives On

The last of the circus Ringlings is dead, but his big show will go on under the same name. Next summer bill boards will proclaim the "greatest show on earth," and the elephants, clowns and trapeze artists will go through their usual performances. All of this will be under the name of the famous brothers, who set standards in the circus world that will continue for many years.

John Ringling was the last of the family which built up a rolling empire under canvas. He was born at McGregor, Iowa, the sixth of seven sons of a harness maker who came to this country from Germany.

The germ of the Ringling Brothers circus was planted in their father's back yard, which became the scene of boyish shows performed for pins and marbles. As they grew they organized the "Ringling Brothers Moral, Elevating, Instructive and Fascinating Concert and Variety Performance," touring the countryside as musicians.

By 1884 they had saved enough to acquire a small circus, which traveled from village to village on three old spring wagons. The circus boasted an educated hog, a headless rooster, a fire king and a Circassian lady. John Ringling was one of the clowns.

Ten years later the brothers owned a circus requiring forty-three double length railroad cars, and from then on they gradually acquired other shows, until the American circus corporation, which they controlled, included Barnum & Bailey, the Sells-Floto circus, Hagenbeck animal show, John Robinson, Sparks and Al G. Barnes shows. All of these circuses have played in Jacksonville, including Ringling Brothers' proper, long before it became affiliated with other organizations.

His brothers died, one by one, leaving John Ringling the sole proprietor of all the larger circuses in the country.

The problem of arranging transportation for the huge caravans engrossed him to such an extent that he entered actively into the railroad business, buying and building several lines.

His intimate knowledge of the country's railroad networks gave rise to several legends, one of them being that he could put his hand out of a Pullman window at night and tell how far he was from his destination by the "feel of the air."

John Ringling was the last of a family whose name was known to practically every man, woman and child in the United States. If the standards set by the Ringlings are maintained, Ringlings circus may be viewed and enjoyed by our children and grandchildren.

Local Shop Window Broken Second Time By Unknown Person

For the second time in recent months the plate glass window in the front of the barber shop operated by William Mosley at 113 East Court street has been shattered by a brick, thrown by an unknown person. The window was broken Thursday about 9:30 p.m. by a man who is said to have been riding in an automobile, while the automobile halted in front of the place of business.

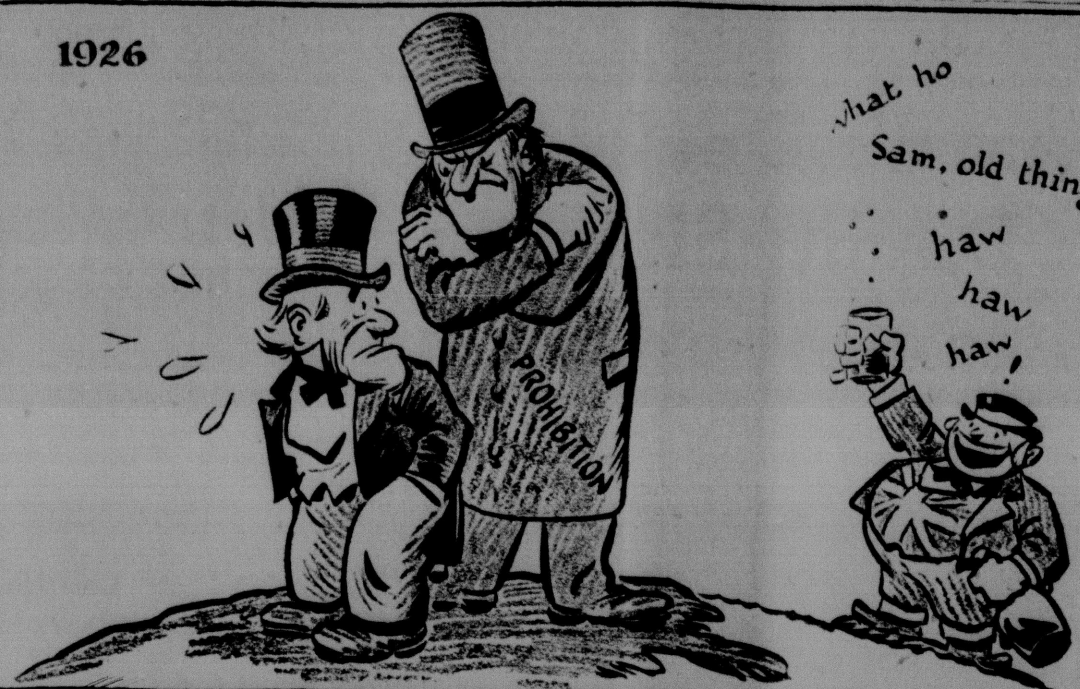

The missile used this time was a half of a recently broken paving brick. It has been taken to the police station where it was examined for finger prints.

Police have been conducting an investigation into the affair.

Harry Tarzwell of Buckhorn was in the city yesterday.

The Observatory

Talk of news censorship in England is all nonsense. The British press is as free as the air, only the process is a bit more complicated. First you get a bit more complicated, first you get a bit more complicated, first you get a bit more complicated.

"I gamble on the Chinese credit system," a Jacksonville man said yesterday. "I wait until the last month of the year and then settle all my horse race, baseball, football and election bets at one time," said he, cashing a check for $2 in payment of same.

The President's "war madness" speech at Buenos Aires was read with interest and approval by all the war lords in Europe, quite sure that he had someone else in mind.

A Jacksonville family of tenderfeet had its first taste of roast opossum this week, and as usual enjoyed the sweet potatoes.

Mind reading will be a universal human faculty in a few score years, a professor predicts, and there'll be a lot of disappointed readers, too, when they find out how meager the literature really is.

Sometimes we wonder why people have to have a daylight saving plan with clocks turned forward in order to get up in the morning. Wouldn't it be less confusing as to time, the nation over, if people would get up when daylight comes?

A married man buttonholed another and told him a terrible scandal.

Harry—Don't let this go any further, George.

George—No, certainly not. But how do you happen to hear it?

Harry—Oh, from the wife, of course. She's just like all women—can't keep a secret.

A. B.—Well, by jove, Jones, how are you? How you have changed!

C. D.—But my name isn't Jones, sir.

A. B.—What is your name changed to?

Girls with romantic minds shouldn't jump at conclusions just because this is leap year.

Tommy—Mother, I got a chance to sell our dog for a dollar.

Mother—Why, we paid $2.00 for him a year ago.

Tommy—I know it, but we've had a year's wear out of him, ain't we?

The photographer was taking a picture of a Jacksonville father and his college boy son. The photographer suggested that the boy stand with his hand on his father's shoulder. "More appropriate," suggested the father, "if he stood with his hand in my pocket."

I'm awfully discouraged about my dramatic performance.

Well, you weren't fired, were you? No, but neither was the audience.

The Family Doctor

If Cold Brings Fever and Aching Body, Go to Bed Immediately

BY DR. MORRIS FISHER, Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygiene, the Health Magazine

When you have a cold or a running nose, you first are naturally interested in shortening the attack, if possible. It is not certain that much can be done toward this end, but there are measures which are of the greatest importance in preventing a more serious attack and complications.

When fever and general symptoms, such as aching of the body, are present, immediate rest in bed is imperative. Experience has shown that failure to go to bed is more likely to result in secondary infection of the sinuses, of the ears, and of the lungs than when the patient does everything necessary to take care of himself.

The physician may provide relief from the pains and general illness by prescribing remedies of established usefulness. Some of these remedies cannot be had except on a physician's prescription, because they contain certain drugs which can be prescribed only by doctors.

Others, such as aspirin, may be taken according to the patient's own experience, but it is best to have a prescription according to the patient's individual needs.

While general body comfort is being aided in this way, it is possible to aid the comfort of the nose itself. Warm irrigations of the nose with alkaline or saline solutions are sometimes recommended. Sprays containing ephedrine are useful in diminishing excess secretions.

If there is irritation in the throat, inhalation of steam, mixed with mild oils, has softening and sedative qualities.

A sponge bath with water at a temperature of 98 degrees F. will make the patient feel much better. After the bath, the skin may be rubbed briskly with a rough towel.

If the bowels are inactive, it is customary to clear them of their digested and undigested contents.

Fever burns tissue; hence, the diet during a cold should consist of nourishing food. Since appetite is lost in most cases, the food should be especially appetizing.

When the patient is a child, he should not be forced to eat anything that is unappetizing to him. Many doctors give extra sugar and fruit juices to provide calories and to prevent the tendency toward acid reaction of the body, which, it is believed, favors persistence of a cold.

For years people have treated their colds by bathing the feet in hot mustard baths, perspiring freely under hot blankets, and drinking orange juice and hot lemonade. If such methods make them feel better, there is no reason why they should not be tried.

More recently it has become customary, as a result of much exaggerated advertising, to attempt to stop a cold by taking vast amounts of vitamins.

There is evidence, as I have already mentioned, that deficiency of vitamins will injure the mucous membranes of animals. There is no evidence, however, that such deficiency develops very often in ordinary human beings.

No doubt, it is impossible to keep the vitamins up to par at times when one is likely to be subjected to extra stress, so far as the condition of his mucous membranes is concerned.

Frequently, running of the nose produces irritation and inflammation of the lip and the skin under the nose. Small amounts of ointment will alleviate this condition.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

New Dealers Eager to Curb Supreme Court, but Can't Agree on Methods... Fault Found With Every Proposal... Why Fasces Emblem Is on Dimes Is Explained... Wallace Declines Youth Congress Honor; Thanks He Was Being Heckled.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER, Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—Although the New Dealers who want to curb the U. S. Supreme Court are busier than ever trying to figure out just how, there is no more agreement as to the best method than there was last year or the year before.

Each of the several suggestions considered has its drawbacks. Proponents of one or another who think they have the best solution are promptly challenged by others who profess to see its flaws.

Proposals for a constitutional amendment are subject to attack on several grounds—even among those who favor reform. An amendment would be likely to take years for ratification by the states and could be defeated by 13 states containing less than 5 per cent of the population, assuming it could be passed by two-thirds majorities in Congress.

Liberals are so divided as to how such amendment should be phrased that it might be very difficult to frame one which would be acceptable to 36 states.

Fear Future Tyranny

Many liberals aren't sure an amendment could be fixed up which would permit progressive social-economic legislation free from supreme court interference without reducing the court's value as a future check on legislative or executive interference with human liberties.

One answer sometimes made to that objection is that the German Supreme Court was once relied on for such protection, but that Hitler had no trouble upsetting its power.

Proposals that Congress pass certain acts earmarked as not reviewable by the courts are regarded by some authorities as acceptable from a constitutional standpoint, but they would be more popular if Congress, having set such a precedent, could be depended on not to earmark nearly all legislation in that manner and thus destroy the court.

Requirement that court decisions holding acts of Congress unconstitutional should be by a vote of at least 6 to 3 or even 7 to 2 is another proposal. But many lawyers point out that constitutional cases arise only in lawsuits brought to the supreme court for final decision; that somebody must decide these suits if the judicial system is to be preserved; and that if justices insisted on continuing to split 5 to 4, it would all be rather messy.

Hope for Retirements

Actually, administration are hoping most of all that a couple of the conservative justices will help them out by retiring from the bench.

Why the Fasces on Dimes?

The treasury has received so many letters asking why the fasces, emblem of Fascism, appear on the "tails" side of dimes that it has prepared a formal letter of reply which points out that the bundle of sticks with battle-axe is only a symbol of national strength, deriving from ancient Rome.

Unofficially, its officials point out that they started using this emblem on dimes in 1919, three years before Mussolini and his Fascists won power in Italy.

VanDeventer, Sutherland, Butler, and McReynolds—the four most conservative justices—are all over 70, eligible for retirement with pay.

There'd be stronger sentiment for compulsory retirement of justices at 70 if Brandeis weren't 80.

The next thing to expect in the way of proposals for judicial reform is a movement for amendment of the amendment power in some way which would make that procedure more practical and less clumsy. This might get somewhere.

So Wallace Balked

The National Youth Congress recently asked Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace to serve on its advisory board.

Wallace might have accepted if the organization's program accompanying the invitation hadn't declared: "We stand unalterably opposed to any program which destroys crops and livestock while millions remain unfed and undernourished."

The secretary thought that was an unfair crack.

Two Local Plants Over Dull Period, Return to Stride

Shoe and Clothing Factories to Be on Full Schedule in Another Week

Two local industries that have been having a between-season lull in plant operation are now getting back into full swing. The renewed activity means steady work for some 340 employees in the two factories.

The Weyand Shoe Company put its cutters back to work this week after a lull in operations of a week or ten days. Company officials explained that it was the usual procedure between seasons, and that within a few days the plant will again be in full operation.

In fact it is expected that the full force of 150 employees will be back to work next week. By that time the cutters will have enough material ready for the workers on other processes in the manufacture of shoes.

A between-season slowness has prevailed for some time in the Prosterman-Spiesberger clothing plant, but cutters have also resumed work there, and the plant, with 190 employees, is expected to be operating on a full schedule by the latter part of next week.

The lull has existed in the plant for about a week, but work has been slow in the coat and vest department for a longer period. However, work on the spring output is now beginning, and all departments will return to capacity operation.

Greene County Man Held Under Record High Bond by Court

Emil Hazelwood Bound Over to Grand Jury on Charge of Attempted Murder

Carrollton—Emil Hazelwood, a resident of the northwest part of Greene county, was arraigned for preliminary hearing, Thursday before Justice Walter Postlewait, on two charges of assault with intent to commit murder. A change of venue to the court of Justice William C. Kelly was granted. After a number of witnesses had been heard, State's Attorney Basil B. Smith asked that the men be held for the February grand jury and made a strong plea that a bond of $10,000.00 be fixed in each of the charges.

Defense attorney, Judge Gilbert K. Hutchens, argued that this amount was out of all reason, as a bond that high had very rarely placed in this county, even in murder cases. The newly elected state's attorney, Julian Hutchens made a surprise plea that the full amount of bond asked by Smith be set in each case.

On consideration of the evidence Justice Kelly bound Hazelwood to the action of the grand jury and one bond to $10,000.00 was fixed for an assault with intent to murder was fixed and another bond of $2,500.00, to keep the peace for one year, was set. Being unable to secure bond Hazelwood was remanded to the county jail.

Immediately after the hearing two additional warrants were issued against Hazelwood. As far as can be learned, the bond is the highest ever set in this county on like charges.

The charges alleged against Hazelwood are that between 5 and 5:30 p. m., November 29 he threatened to kill Miss Avis Bolrum, with a revolver and that shortly after 5:30 the same evening he did feloniously assault and threaten to kill, with a loaded revolver, Miss Bolrum, Ralph Bolrum, and Hershel Sherwin.

The two men knocked Hazelwood down and disarmed him. Later the argument was renewed at the Hazelwood home. In this last argument it is alleged that Hazelwood invited the men to meet him at a certain place in Jacksonville and that he would kill them and a few more.

Burleigh Grimes Gets Four Men For Price Of Two From Chicago Cubs, Pirates In Quick Trades

Montreal, Dec. 4.—(P)—Gruff, tough Burleigh Grimes, who did less talking than any manager talking around the baseball bazaar this week, did some rapid-fire pitching for Brooklyn today by getting four players for the price of two from the Chicago Cubs and Pittsburgh Pirates.

Making his first venture in the market as a big league trader, the new Brooklyn manager swapped Shortstop Linus Frey to the Cubs for infielder Elwood (Woody) English and Roy Henshaw, diminutive southpaw pitcher.

A few minutes later, old Burleigh closed a deal whereby he traded Southpaw Pitcher Ed Brandt to the Pirates for Second Baseman Harry (Cookie) Lavagetto and Ralph Birke, young southpaw.

The only other piece of news to come from the meeting today was a left-handed slap at Commissioner Kenesaw M. Landis by the minors. They reversed their decision of yesterday and rejected by unanimous vote his proposed rider on the Baltimore amendment, permitting scouts and representatives of all ball clubs to recommend players to teams of lower classification without being denied the right later on to buy for themselves the player recommended.

The riders would require all recommendations to be filed in his office as well as those of the president of the league involved and the head of the minor league association.

Although the Baltimore amendment has no direct bearing on the case of Bob Feller, Cleveland pitching sensation, it lifted Cleveland's hopes that the commissioner would see the sentiment on more liberality in minor-league contract affairs and award the schoolboy pitcher to Cleveland, instead of ruling him a free agent on the charge of violating the sandlot rule.

Brooklyn's deals, definitely one to give the daffiness boys of Flatbush new faces and greater defensive strength, solved one of Chicago's keenest problems—what to do with English.

The 29-year old Cub was rated one of the prize infielders in baseball over a period from 1929 and '32, but mystery surrounded him from then on as he was used largely for utility duty. In 1935, he appeared in only 34 games; last season he was in and out of 64. English was with the Cubs 10 seasons and was a field captain.

Henshaw, who won six and lost five last season, is 25. He came to the Cubs in 1933 from the University of Chicago and then was sent to Los Angeles where he gained another chance in big time by winning 16 and losing 4. In '35, the tantalizing little southpaw won 13 and lost five for the Cubs but last season won 6 and dropped five.

Landis Decision in Feller Case Waited

Reported May Have Results That Some Won't Like

Montreal.—(P)—A tremor, stirred up by an old man with a big stick, was shaking the baseball world today. Commissioner Mountain Landis was nearing announcement of his long-awaited decision in the case of 17-year-old Bob Feller, sensational Cleveland schoolboy pitcher, and the big-wigs of baseball actually were quaking in their boots.

When Landis first launched an investigation into complaints that Cleveland had violated the major-minor league agreement by signing Feller off the sandlots, rival club owners hoped the young pitching wonder would be ruled a free agent and tossed into the market for a public auction.

Then they realized that should Landis rule Feller a free agent, he might rule some of their established young stars free agents for the same reason.

It is estimated that Landis has held at least a score of meetings in his effort to squeeze every last ounce of information out of those connected, closely or remotely, with the Feller case.

Rumors of impending swaps were as thick as cigar smoke in the hotel lobbies but nothing of importance has been announced.

The stupendous "sale of Dizzy Dean" to Cincinnati, Pittsburgh or New York was still in the bull pen working out.

Brooklyn swung a deal without the use of the much sought-after Van Mungo by selling outfielder French Bordagaray, infielder Jim Jordan and Pitcher Emil Leonard, rookie from Atlanta, to the St. Louis Cardinals in a straight cash deal.

Three other deals were announced today.

Kansas City sold First Baseman Dale Alexander to Nashville of the Southern Association.

The Pittsburgh Pirates sold Pitcher Johnny Welch, formerly of the White Sox and Red Sox, to St. Paul.

Newark sold Pitcher Hank McDonald to Oakland, Cal.

SIMMONS LOSES

Mason City, Ia.—(P)—Oze Simmons, Iowa football star, put the wrong "punctuation mark" on an interview he gave here between halves of a game between his negro professional touring basketball team and a Mason City aggregation.

After decrying what he termed lack of intelligence on the part of Iowa high school and college athletes, Simmons went out and put a shot in the wrong basket. His team lost 36 to 27.

Strikes to Spare

Selection of Ball Big Factor in Ultimate Ability of Bowler

Selection of the proper ball is the first move to a good game of ten pins. Here Skang Mercurio shows how the ideal ball fits a bowler's hand—a perfectly fitting glove, with thumb inserted down to the last joint.

By SKANG MERCURIO
World's Highest Average Bowler
Selection of the proper ball probably has more to do with the success of a bowler than any other factor.

A bowling ball must fit the hand like a glove—the span should be just wide enough so that the ball feels secure in the grip when held down at the side, and the holes just large enough so that the fingers can slip out easily on delivery.

A ball with holes too large will slip from the fingers without control; one with holes too small sticks on delivery, and is apt to take quite a bit of the thumb along with it.

It makes little difference about the number of holes in the ball, although I incline to a three-holed ball. However, as a general rule, a bowler with a small hand gets a better grip on a three-fingered ball.

THREE EYE LEAGUE

TO HAVE SIX CLUBS

Montreal.—(P)—Sponsors of the reorganized Three-Eye League said last night the old Class B circuit will operate with six clubs and a full schedule in 1937.

The league, which did not operate in 1936, will be composed of the following clubs: Clinton, Ia., Moline, Peoria, and Decatur, Ill., and Terre Haute and Evansville, Ind. All were members of the league at one time or another.

Sponsors said each club would be backed by a major or Class AA club working agreement, all of which have been tentatively lined up but not yet signed. The schedule will be adopted and a president elected at a later meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Mansfield transacted business in the city yesterday afternoon from White Hall.

I.S.D. Loses First Game to Franklin By Score of 29-12

Fast Stepping Flashes In Form. While Tigers Get Only Four Baskets

The Illinois School for the Deaf basketball team, launching a new season, struck a snag at Franklin last night when the fast-stepping Flashes outscored them 29 to 12.

The first quarter opened fairly fast, but before the game was very old Franklin piled up a lead that could not be checked by the Tigers, who showed the result of inexperience. The Tigers will travel to New Berlin tonight to further their talent for a busy season, which should improve with each workout.

Franklin piled in 11 baskets to the Tigers' 4, and otherwise departed themselves in winning style. Bryant, a forward, paced his squad with 11 points. None of the Tigers could do better than one field goal.

The Tigers got some satisfaction out of the journey, however, as their reserves stopped Franklin in a curtain raiser 33 to 8.

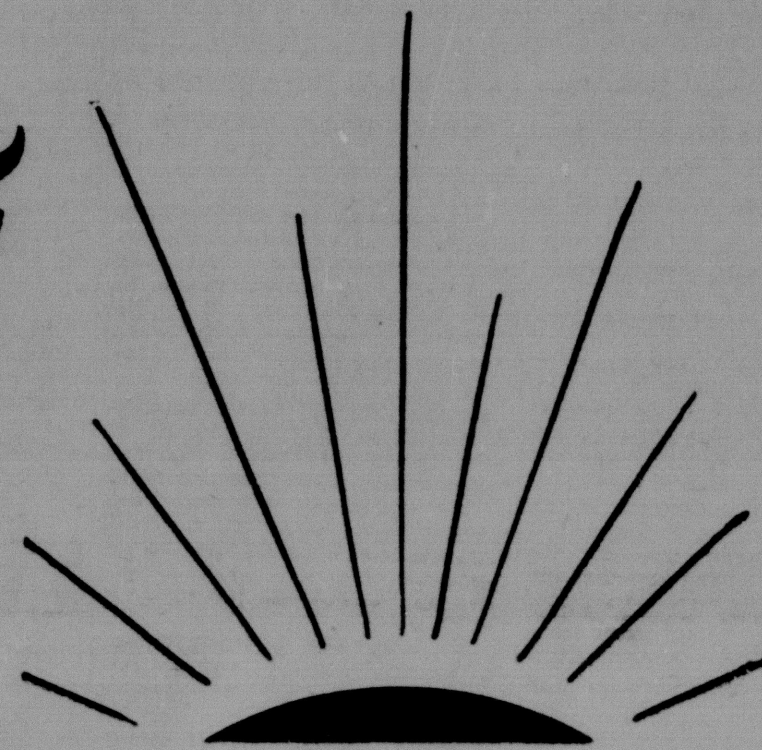

Franklin had an 11 to 3 edge at the first quarter, and the score was 19 to 5 at the half.

Wixom of Ashland was referee of the contest.

A Woman's Work is Never Done

My daddy says a woman's work
Is never done because She's caught a view of something new
That won't permit a pause.

Then there's a lovely basket deep
With spools and shears and things
To sew and mend my clothes no end
Until the tea bell rings.

I think I know just what he means.
I feel that way myself.
With nails to pull, my mind is full
Of cakes on mother's shelf.

Before you think it, bedtime's here
And not one half is done.
What's left to do would startle you
But my! It is such fun.

A WOMAN'S work is never done, and what's more, it probably never will be for she keeps a constant rendezvous with betterment. Within her stirs a gentle but eternal prickling of progress that gains one step only to start reaching out for the next.

From the very beginning, the American woman has done much for the country's development by her own direct effort. Her powerful beneficent influence on men's activities has stirred, persuaded and shamed them into further forward action they might not take by themselves.

Many a stately tree spreads its loveliness today because of her Improvement Association work of forty years ago. Urged by the same gentle insistence, the street it shades has come up by successive stages from a lane, dusty or muddy at the weather's whim, to become a clean, quiet, all-weather thoroughfare. The schools and playgrounds and churches on either side owe much of their satisfying and uplifting existence to her cheerful, incessant drive to make them realities.

What she asks for, works for and gets is rarely for herself. She wants but little. But nothing is too much to ask or too hard to do that will make the community a more wholesome, happier place for her children and her family.

Not many businesses remain untouched by her exacting ideas of quality and her frankly receptive attitude. In effect it says, "Make it better, more beautiful, more useful, or more economical and we'll find the money for it." She loves style and color. She likes to go places with her family quickly and in comfort. Together, these facts helped automobile makers to lead business from its depression.

The keen, intelligent competition for the vast fortune her collective patronage represents has built up an unsurpassed standard of excellence, convenience, and economy throughout the whole range of our retail stores.

The Journal and Courier gladly acknowledges the vital part that women have played in determining its policies and its practices. To make a newspaper that meets the approval of our wide awake women and their families; to keep it standing in that favorable light as a factor for progress is a constant challenge to our best effort. Likewise it is an endless tribute to the woman whose work can never be finished.

Candidate for Mama's Beauty Title

Miss America of 1935, who was Miss Henrietta Leaver of McKeesport, Pa., presents a candidate to succeed her in the beauty ranks—her own new baby daughter, Patricia Lee. Miss Leaver, now Mrs. John Mustachio, left a quiet existence in McKeesport to win the beauty title and the fame that goes with it. Then she created a sensation by refusing to allow a nude statue of herself to be exhibited publicly. In preference to possible fame on screen or stage, she chose a housewife's role, and now motherhood.

Betsy Ross House Will Be Preserved

Dispute Claims of Historians Who Say Woman Did Not Make First Flag

Patriotic societies are particularly interested in the announcement re-ceived by local officers that the Betsy Ross House will be saved for posterity, after a controversy, which has involved city officials in Philadelphia and national officers of the D.A.R., and historical societies.

Over the protest of some historians, word has come from Philadelphia as follows: "Several local historians have protested that Betsy Ross did not make the first American flag and never lived at 239 Arch street. Mayor S. Davis Wilson has announced that A. Atwater Kent had volunteered to restore the present house at that address to its original colonial appear-ance. The mayor declared he had data to disprove the records of Joseph Jackson, Albert Cook Meyers, and Dr. Ellis Paxson Oberholzer, the dissent-ing historians."

Shelving Topples Over on White Hall Man in Story Store

Workers Had Just Completed Christmas Decorating; Other News Notes

White Hall—A very unusual ac-cident occurred Thursday morning about ten o'clock in the H. L. Story dry goods store. Fifty-five feet of shelving toppled over into the store from the north side of the building and dumped the contents into the floor and onto a long row of glass show cases and counters.

John Strang, who clerks in the store, was caught between the shelving and counter and was unable to extricate himself until the shelving was lifted off him. However he did not suffer any injury.

The shelving is about seven feet high and consisted of four shelves above a counter fifty-five feet long and a row of drawers below the coun-ter which was nailed to the wall. It is thought that the vibration from the machinery on the other side of the wall in the Co-Ed garment factory may have contributed to the accident. Also that the heavy load of goods piled on the shelves for the holiday trade may have been too much and caused the shelving to pull loose, and topple over.

Mr. Story and his force of clerks were putting the finishing touches to the holiday decorations in the store when the accident happened. A car-penter worked the remainder of the day repairing and fastening the shelv-ing back in place and Mr. Story ex-pected to have his goods again in place in a short time.

RUNAWAY'S JOURNEY CUT SHORT BY COPS

Local Girl Starts for St. Louis, But Returns

A projected trip to St. Louis Thurs-day ended for Betty Jean Brannum when she was returned to the local police station. She got as far as Roodhouse, where she was taken in charge by City Officer R. W. Chapman who brought her back to Jacksonville.

The girl, 12 years old, started for school Thursday morning from the home of David Harris, where she re-sides. But she did not arrive, and shortly after 9 o'clock local police were asked to search for her.

Carrying her school books tied in a neat bundle, the girl caught rides along the south hard road, and at Murray-ville boarded a truck. She was en route to St. Louis, she said, to visit her brother. At Roodhouse the truck driver consulted an officer, who took charge of Miss Brannum.

Officer Chapman could learn little from questioning the girl, and finally inspected the bundle of school books. He learned that she belonged in Jack-sonville and promptly decided to bring her to the police station here. Her return Thursday afternoon ended a search which had been in progress for several hours.

Mr. Ligon is suffering with pro-found shock. He was removed to his home at Eldred. He is employed by H. H. Armstrong, manager of the Eldred Crushed Stone company that supplies crushed stone for gravelled roads in Greene county.

The road east of Roodhouse is practically completed to within a mile and a quarter of the Macoupin coun-ty line. The road covers within a mile and a half of the village of Athens-ville, and a gravelled road is being built from Athensville to connect with this road. Athensville also has already gravelled the main street through the village.

A survey is now being made to ex-tend the Roodhouse-Athensville road to Scottville. This road will be built next summer and this will then con-nect Roodhouse with Route 11 at Modesto. The vicinity being trav-elled by this new road has long been in need of better facilities for shipping as there has never been a railroad or improved road for miles.

Other road improvements being made in Greene county under the supervision of Paul Fenley, county road superintendent, includes a sur-vey being made from Eldred north of the bluffs to Hay Press, across Apple Creek to Bridgewater a mile north of the creek. This road will be extend-ed north later on to connect with Route 36 west of Winchester, mak-ing a continuous route along the bluffs in the Illinois river bottoms from the state park at Grafton in Jersey to Winchester in Scott county, reaching all the way across Greene county, which is a very scenic and beautiful drive especially in early spring when spring flowers are in bloom and in the fall when foliage is brightly colored.

The rough grading is practically all done on the Alsey to White Hall hard road which will connect White Hall with Winchester cutting off about five miles distance between the two places and making White Hall and Winchester twenty-five miles closer by way of a hard road, which takes the traveler through Jacksonville as it now is. The new gravel road be-tween Alsey and Manchester has al-ready made some difference in distance between the two places.

A WPA road project running four and a half miles west from Route 67 south of Carrollton to Woodville along the Kane and Carrollton town-ships line, will be built of crushed stone this winter.

WPA road project between Wrights and Greenfield built of gravel from the eastern part of the county is practically finished, except for a few feet.

There is also a strip of road three miles long east of White Hall to the Vert Day farm, recently finished, which is built of crushed stone. The city of White Hall is laying an ar-terial street roadway of black top to connect Route 67 with this project. The city is using gasoline tax money to build the street road bed.

A gravel road has also been built west of White Hall extending to Walkerville and to the Pleasant Dale church.

Ward Employees Get First Monthly Bonus

Sales in November Bring 3 Per Cent Increase in Salaries

Employees of the Montgomery Ward store here Thursday received their first regular monthly bonus as the result of a new plan placed in operation the first of November. The bonus for the month amounted to approximately eight per cent of the monthly salary.

Montgomery Ward stores all over the country have been placed on a quota basis, and stores which sell more goods than the quota allow-ance, split up the profits among the employees. The bonus plan is a per-manent fixture in the Ward organi-zation, and monthly dividends will be paid when the store is able to jus-tify them. O. A. Smith, local man-ager, said.

The second dividend under the new plan will be declared the first of January, or as soon thereafter as it is possible to determine the amount to be split up among the employees.

Clarence Ligon Is Critically Injured In Truck Accident

Turns Over in Empty Gravel Truck; County Building Many New Roads

In Late Selling

New York, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Late selling pulled the stock market after a wide assortment of specialties and registered gains of 1 to 2 as much as 6 points or so.

As it was, oil and aircraft, together with a few rails and others, managed to emerge with fairly substantial advances. But the steels, motors and many others were well under water at the finish.

Brokers saw nothing of importance in the news to account for the final hour's setback, except a little more concern over labor problems.

The Associated Press average of 60 issues lost 3.4 of a point at 7:04. Transfers totaled 2,149,950 shares against 2,036,950 yesterday.

A boost in crude oil prices by Mid-Continent Producers brought a buying rush for selected petroleum issues.

The exceptionally cheerful week-end business review of Dun & Bradstreet, confirming forecasts of heavy holiday spending, failed to give a fillip to the merchandising shares.

Gulf States Steel was a notable exception to the general nervous list, holding a gain of 31 points at 57 1/2.

Amerasia also pushed up 14 at 104. Others up fractions to a point or more included Standard Oil of N. J., 44 1/2; and California at 66 1/2 and 67 1/2, respectively; Seaboard Oil 36 1/2.

Buyers Balk At High Hog Prices

Chicago, Dec. 4.—(AP)—Hogs lost 10 cents more in some cases today with buyers' resistance to the highest prices in two months increasing.

Ignoring the sharp cut in supplies, bidders paid steady to 10 cents lower. Choice pigs and underweights were stronger and most lights were steady.

Top declined to $18.05 compared with the extreme peak of $10.25 early yesterday.

With corn selling above $1 a bushel compared with slightly above 50 cents a year ago, the unfavorable development in the relation of feed and hog values is indicated by the fact that the average price of swine is slightly less than a year ago although the best for December, excepting 1935, in 10 years. A year ago packers were paying the processing fat in addition.

THE TINY GALAPAGOS ISLANDS,

OFF THE WEST COAST OF SOUTH AMERICA, WERE DARWIN'S GREATEST INSPIRATION IN HIS THEORY OF EVOLUTION!

DARWIN'S visit to the Galapagos Islands, in 1835, seemed to be the needed impetus to launch him into serious work on his theory of evolution. On these islands, he found that 75 per cent of the fauna was different from that of the mainland only 600 miles away, and that the species varied from island to island.

DOROTHY OSTROM, who dislikes Marcia, leads him to believe Marcia is engaged to another man.

There is a bank holding up a police commander the Canfield car to follow the bandits. The car is wrecked and both Marcia and her father are injured.

Dorothy Ostrom, coming upon the scene and takes Marcia and her father to a hospital.

Douglas calls the hospital repeatedly, is told Marcia is "doing well."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXI

WHEN Marcia awakened later she was in another room, in a white bed, and a woman in white and a man in white were looking at her.

"Father?" said Marcia.

"He has a total of three broken ribs. It's a miracle, but the two seats must have kept you penned in so you weren't bounced around. The chauffeur held on to the wheel, apparently, and kept his neck from being broken. He has some fractures, but he'll get over them. The policeman can't complain of anything but bruises and sprains. . . But don't bother about it. Everything's fine. Get some sleep."

On the second day she was well enough to receive callers, so that she heard from many sources and with variations that the bandits had escaped—only their abandoned car being found—and also the story of how Bruce McDougall and the Osborns had brought her to the hospital.

From McDougall himself came a very simple box of flowers, with a polite card expressing a hope for her quick recovery, but he did not appear among her visitors, either on that day or on the days following.

He telephoned the hospital frequently and anonymously for news of her, nor that, alone in his rooms, he dwelt grimly on imaginary scenes of a flying visit to her bedside by her reputed fiancé.

ON her third night in the hospital, after visiting hours, Marcia's nurse, one Peggy Holmes, was preparing her for sleep. The doctor had just departed, with a promise that she could go home "pretty soon now." She had seen her father, walking stiffly and complaining bitterly that he was taped too tight to breathe. She had had favorable news of the chauffeur's condition.

Miss Holmes, discharging her tasks with a mechanical precision which left her mind free for the more entertaining hospital routine of conversation, gave Marcia the latest gossip and chatted of the evening's visitors.

"Hasn't that man been here to see you yet?" she demanded.

"What man?" asked Marcia.

"The guy with the tragic face who carried you in here the night you were hurt."

"I didn't know he had a tragic face."

"You'd have called it tragic if you'd seen it then," said Miss Holmes. "I was in the receiving ward, so I got a good look at him. He looked worse than you did; you were only unconscious. He came carrying you in from the driveway and put you down as if you were a mangled flower, so help me. We had to push him out of the way to see to you, and when we started upstairs with you, there he was following along to the elevator."

"When we got finished with you I went downstairs again, expecting to have a corpse to dispose of, but he'd gone. Gone out to shoot himself, from the way he looked, I imagined."

"Well, if he hasn't been in to see you, maybe it's all for the best. He'd have to cheer up considerably before they'd let him in. The place would be a morgue, with him frightening the patients. . . . No kidding, hasn't he been here?"

When at last Miss Holmes left, Marcia lay without sleeping. There was a warmth in her heart for Bruce McDougall's concern, a woman-like, her intuition reached out and brought back the knowledge that, after all, in some peculiar way, he cared.

Somewhere there was an absurd little explanation for his staying away. It didn't matter; she knew what she wanted to know.

MRS. REID HENDERSON, the director of "Half-Acre in Eden," had spent a frantic fortnight worrying over the necessity for postponing the show or finding a substitute for Marcia, when, with the performance only a week ahead, a simple solution was presented.

Both Marcia and her father had been allowed to leave the hospital, the doctors finding no further injuries and no evidence of the effects of shock. Helen Waddell and several other girls in the show visited Marcia on her first afternoon at home. Discussing a postponement of the play or finding a substitute for the leading lady, they proposed, simply, that Marcia should take part on the scheduled date, regardless of having her arm in a cast.

Picture Scene If Russia Is Attacked By Germany, Japan

Involves Three of World's Most Powerful War Machines, is Report

New York.—(P)—Should Russia's prediction that Germany and Japan are preparing to attack her come true, there would be on battle fields three of the world's most powerful machines of war on land and the two greatest air fleets—those of the Soviets and Germany.

A minimum of 16,750,000 soldiers, standing armies and trained reserves, would be involved—Russia has 11,500,000; Germany, 3,000,000; Japan, 2,250,000. These figures are unofficial and in the cases of Germany and Japan probably are considerable underestimates. Millions of fit but untrained men would be available.

This does not take into account the forces of other countries which might become involved. At least one outside nation would certainly be in the conflict, either willingly or otherwise, because Germany and Russia could not get at each other except through one of the small eastern European countries which form a solid barrier between them.

Poland is the most logical gateway, though perhaps one of the toughest, because she has a crack standing army—product of ten years of labor of the late Marshal Pilsudski.

The Russian and German air forces are immense. A Soviet official the other day placed German's planes at 7,000, and indicated that the union had more. The trained aviators are said to be more than sufficient to man these armadas of the sky, and Russia claims a vast excess of available flyers.

Of the trio, Japan is the only one with great naval strength, and she ranks third in the world—next to America and Britain. She has some 211 fighting ships with a tonnage of 770,000. Germany—stripped by the World war—has about 61 warcraft, and several others are on the stocks. The Russian figures are not available.

Neither Germany nor Japan begins to approach this favorable position. Indeed, they would be largely dependent on outside supplies, both foodstuffs and war materials.

Rehearsals, therefore, continued with increasing excitement, due to the approach of the actual performance. The cast met each night of the last week, with dress rehearsal scheduled for the night before the presentation.

Midway in the week, Mrs. Henderson sought to spur her company toward final perfection with the stimulus of a mysterious announcement.

"You are all doing splendidly," she told the group, assembled on the stage of the auditorium. "I'm proud of you. The few rough spots left will be corrected easily, I know."

"Now, there is something I want to tell you—in part, I can't give you the whole story; I promised to keep it a secret."

"But I can tell you that on the night of the show there is to be a surprise for you. For the whole town, in fact. Something that, actually, all of us will feel we have a share in, even if we can't all benefit directly. It is something that should make the Stagecraft Guild—and particularly this cast—very, very proud. Now, work hard and deserve it."

She refused all entreaties to say more.

BRUCE McDUGALL was inking in a sketch. The pencil job had satisfied him, but now it was all wrong. He knew what was lacking, but he seemed unable to draw the lines he wanted. He frowned at the work on his drawing board, and frowned at his pen, the oldest and most faithful among his store.

Disgustedly, he tossed the pen down and pushed the drawing board aside. As in the case of the sketch, he knew his trouble, but could not apply the remedy.

If only someone else had been handy on the night of the wreck to pick up Marcia Canfield! Then he would not have held her in his arms, would not now be mocked by his once level-headed decision to put the dream of her aside!

He stared out the window. McDougall couldn't get over it! Unfettered, free lance McDougall, without a worry in the world, had come to Bobbs Neck and found himself tied for life to the thought of a girl he couldn't have!

Making the Most of Their Free Meal Ticket

When it's mealtime, four little tiger cubs in the Cincinnati, O., zoo make no distinction between their own mother, with her jungle heritage, and Queenie, a domestic German police dog. When it was feared the mother tigress, Dolly, would be unable to supply nourishment to the cubs, a hungry call was sent out for mother dogs. And of the 40 "volunteers," Queenie, with four unweaned pups of her own, was chosen. Queenie is shown above, giving the baby tigers their supper. One of her own youngsters lies near Queenie's head, apparently eliminated by competition.

but she is weak, although she has a goodly fleet of submarines in the far east.

The question uppermost in most minds is whether Russia could withstand an assault by major powers on both sides. Many military experts think she could, because of her natural resources and the undoubted strength of her reconstructed fighting arms. But the experts are guessing, because one of the things which the Soviet does not allow to become public is detailed military information.

One vital factor stands out in favor of Russia: she is said by military men to be one of the two nations of the world which could wage war indefinitely and depend on her own natural resources. The United States is the other.

Neither Germany nor Japan begins to approach this favorable position. Indeed, they would be largely dependent on outside supplies, both foodstuffs and war materials.

Rehearsals, therefore, continued with increasing excitement, due to the approach of the actual performance. The cast met each night of the last week, with dress rehearsal scheduled for the night before the presentation.

Home Bureau Will Have Three Major Projects in 1937

Foods, Nutrition, Clothing Will Be Featured; Hold School for Officers

Foods, nutrition and clothing will be the three major projects in the 1937 program of the Morgan County Home Bureau, according to a decision of officers at a general meeting and officers' training conference here yesterday. Minor subjects to be taken up by the membership, numbering 352 women of Morgan and Scott counties, include textile testing, home nursing and book review.

Eighty-nine women gathered at the Farm Bureau headquarters for the important sessions, held both in the morning and afternoon. Miss Ann Searle and Miss Mary Louise Chase of the University of Illinois home extension service, as well as Mrs. Agnes Doherty, county home adviser, addressed the various groups during the day.

During the morning the advisory council of unit chairmen and members of the executive board planned the home economics extension program for the coming year. In addition to adopting the program projects, the officers made plans for open meetings on food preservation and management of time, energy and money in the home.

At noon the executive board members had luncheon in the Coffee Room of the New Dunlap hotel.

At the afternoon session the officers separated for a series of meetings on subjects of particular interest to them. Unit chairmen met with Miss Searle; vice chairmen and membership committees conferred with Miss Chase.

Miss Lora Petefish of Litterberry, who has been very successful with Four-H club work, addressed the unit Four-H chairmen concerning cooperation of Home Bureau units and Four-H clubs for successful results.

Club reporters and secretaries in another meeting were addressed by B. B. Ridgway of the Journal and Courier, on methods of preparing reports of meetings and submitting them for publication. Mrs. Doherty talked to the unit secretaries in regard to the keeping of minutes and reports.

All of the 19 units in Morgan and Scott counties were represented at the meeting. Units now active are Waverly, Murrayville, Franklin, Asbury, Winchester, Manchester, Alexander, Orleans, Mound, Jacksonville, Rural Jacksonville, Bluffs, Harmony, Sinclair, Litterberry, Lynnville, Berea, Cheerful and Progressive clubs, both composed of members in the Mercedia community.

The past few months have been devoted by Home Bureau officials to organization, Mrs. Doherty, the adviser; Mrs. David Reynolds, president, and other officers having been busy for a number of weeks with setting up the various unit organizations. The time has now arrived when the Bureau will set forth on a definite program, designed to be of much interest and help to the large membership.

The Home Bureau consists of 16 Morgan county units and 3 Scott county units.

'The Terrible Meek' Will Be Presented At Trinity Church

Local Audience Will View Famous Play With Local Cast of 3 Persons

On Sunday, December 13, Charles Rann Kennedy's well-known play "The Terrible Meek," will be presented at Trinity church. The performance will begin at 8:00 p. m. in the church building.

Mr. Kennedy has written many other successes, among them, "A Servant in the House," "The Terrible Meek" was first produced under the management of Mr. Winthrop Ames at the Little Theatre, New York City, during Lent, 1912. On that day it was also published by Harper and Brothers. This was two years before the World war. At the same time copies were sent by the author to various monasteries, presidents, war lords, statesmen, and other prominent men.

Some of these copies were returned. The play was banned in London, Berlin, and St. Petersburg; and its reception in New York city may be realized by a reference to the papers of that time. Since then it has been performed, recited, broadcasted, in churches, colleges, theatres, thousands of times all over the world. It is even done in China.

"Charles Rann Kennedy is one of the consummate artists of today. A classicist in form, he derives from the same current of 'n'ism, that produced Shaw. Into his plays goes the exquisite details of a medieval craftsman. Everything he writes is marked by psychological truth and subtlety and matchless technical skill. For thirty years he has served the theatre as actor, playwright, and producer; during this time he has written a long list of plays." From "Plays for Seven Players."

The cast of the play is small; there being only three characters having speaking parts. These people who will portray those roles are: Miss Rosemary Roberts, William Vickery, and William Clark. Miss Roberts and Mr. Clark have both had experience on the stage of the Illinois College Little Theatre. Mr. Vickery was also prominent in the same activity during his years as student at the college.

The production is under direction of Ray Becker, also a member of the Illinois College Dramatic club. Stage direction and properties are under the management of the Young People's College group.

The play is not only interesting in itself, but the circumstances surrounding its first performance in New York city, and the unusually different setting make it doubly so. There will be no tickets sold, and no admission charged.

"Growing Pains," a hilarious comedy of adolescence, is in its last stages of rehearsal at the high school. The three act play, being produced by the senior class, will be given Wednesday and Thursday nights in the auditorium.

"Growing Pains," written by Auranio Rouverol, is one of the best known and most popular light comedies for young players. It depicts the trials and tribulations of two modern people, a boy and a girl passing through the adolescent stage. The girl is just coming out of the tomboy period and is anxious to use her feminine wiles to keep even with the boys.

The boy wants a car, falls in love with a slightly more matured "Vamp," gets arrested and jailed and falls out of one predicament into another to the great delight of the audience. The entire play is extremely well suited to the young players and a cast has been assembled that takes every opportunity to provide the watchers with a good time.

The service will be in the nature of garden vespers.

Following is the program arranged for the local church: Prelude, "March of the Magi" (Harker)—Miss Leanna Clemons. Scripture and prayer—Miss Ina Stewart. Hymn, "Jesus Shall Reign." ## J.H.S. Grid Players Guests at Banquet; Abell New Captain

Annual Event Is Given At High School, Honoring This Year's Squad

Jacksonville High school's football squad, which has just closed one of its most successful seasons in nearly 10 years, was banqueted last night in the school cafeteria. During the festivities Ray Abell, a son of Mr. and Mrs. Rosa Abell, was elected next year's captain.

Ninety-two persons including players, teachers and school officials, pep squad members and just plain J. H. S. boosters, sat down to the banquet tables and after the meal enjoyed a program with Carl Richards as principal speaker. Mr. Richards, a member of one of those teams back early in the century that made football history at J. H. S., discussed the athletic situation from 1901 up to the present.

Principal J. C. Mutch delivered a few introductory remarks before presenting Coach Frank Walker as toastmaster. The newly elected grid captain, the retiring captain, Winfield Chinowith, and other seniors on this year's team were presented.

Seniors on the team who played their last game against I. S. D. Thanksgiving day, resulting in a 60 to 0 victory for the high school, are Don Ranson, Richard Schildman, Ralph Bourn, Herbert Marshall, Jack Brown, Nyle Stromatt and Robert Greenleaf.

Coach Walker complimented the team on its excellent morale, while other speakers predicted that the high school is headed for a larger place on the football map next year. This season's record was 6 victories, 5 defeats and one tie, a striking comparison to the results a few years back when the local team was taking it on the chin in every encounter.

Miss Catherine Frenzel, leader of the pep squad, gave a short talk of encouragement. Glenn Hickie, assistant coach, completed the speaking talent on the program.

Entertainment was provided by Miss Marjorie Aue, accordionist, and the Melody Maids, a vocal trio composed of Misses Clara Mae Strubinger, Louise Driver and Lucille Wyatt.

Following the banquet a dance was given in the school gymnasium, attended by a large crowd.
